Michigan Red Cross Chapters Follow National Guardsmen

A Red Cross representative is at Camp Grayling at the invitation of the Indiana National Guard to assist home town chapters in contact with their service men. The representative is in case of emergencies at home. Leonard L. Peterson, Assistant Field Director, is regularly stationed at Ft. Riley, Kansas. He will remain in Grayling for the Michigan National Guard training period.

As evidence of the fact that the Red Cross is interested in the welfare of the men, the following Red Cross chapters were in communication with their officers regarding problems and emergencies: Alexandria, Kokomo, Martinsburg, Grand Rapids, Ft. Wayne, Muncie, Evansville, Bloomington, Evansville, Louisville, Anderson, Peru, and Greenville.

While Mr. Peterson is here as a representative of the Red Cross, he calls attention to the fact that the Grayling Red Cross chapter has been very active in helping the men. The chapter has been very active in helping the men. The chapter has been very active in helping the men.

Stunning news of Blair Moody's death brought renewed public interest in the primary election August 3.

It was a tragic loss to the Democratic party. One that was felt deeply and personally by many party leaders.

It was also a loss that presented some practical political problems.

There seemed little choice. Patrick V. McNamara, Moody's only primary opponent, seemed almost certain of nomination.

There was some talk about a possible slicker candidate, but Gov. G. Mennen Williams refused to make any statement about this subject for several days after Moody's death.

Michigan law is not clear about such cases as Moody's. According to one section, the Democratic State Central Committee could pick another candidate and order his name pasted over Moody's on the ballot. Another section mentions that voters can write in names.

Relations between Williams and McNamara had been formal, almost to a point of being stilted. In early stages of the campaign McNamara had accused Williams of making a "vest pocket" candidate out of Moody. He had made bitter statements about favoritism by Democratic Chairman Neil Staebler. He has been associated with AFL and has remarked pointedly about "the present ADA, CIO boss and egghead leadership". Democratic leaders have silent threats that their relationship with McNamara had improved since caustic comments at the beginning of the campaign. There problem would have been infinitely more complex if the relationship had been one of open warfare as exists in the Lieutenant Governor race.

"The first I knew about it was what I read in the papers," said the Governor when asked about the report that Moody had tried to withdraw from the race because of ill health.

The story was quickly and vehemently denied by Blair Moody Jr. He said that his father wanted nothing more in life than to continue the campaign and that he was not considering withdrawing. Neil Staebler said: "The inference that Mr. Moody wanted to withdraw from the senatorial race and was prevented by party leaders is completely untrue. It defames the integrity of a great senator."

Harmony in the Republican camp, on the other hand, was so much in evidence that the campaign could be considered dull. As one capital reporter put it: "All of them are in favor of good roads, good schools, lower taxes, etc. I don't hear much talk about how these things will be paid for, or specific steps candidates expect to take."

This is a new situation for Republicans who consider they lost several elections because such vigorous campaigning took place in primaries that the party could not unify itself behind the winning candidate.

And it is a different problem. Much less campaign money has been made available to candidates than in other years. "Everyone seems to feel it doesn't matter which of the men is nominated," said a GOP figure. "They don't see much advantage to backing one over the other."

And it's no surprise that folks have personal preferences in beverages, too. So if your neighbor orders a glass of beer while you're having coffee, remember he's entitled to his choice, too.

SMALL BUSINESS

B. C. WILSON HARDER

At long last Federal Trade Commission has launched a full scale investigation of couponing practices. And in doing so, FTC has invoked seldom used compulsory process to get information from a few huge corporations who have been using the couponing method to drive out independent regional competitors in a steamroller drive that moves from city to city.

The background is interesting. In September 1953, Sen. James Duff, heading C.W. Harder sub committee of Senate Small Business Committee asked FTC to report on coupon being taken to probe couponing practices.

Of course, the monopoly investigation branch of the FTC has been the heaviest cut, although the agency seems to find plenty of time to read over a half million radio and television commercials annually, even though evidence is strong public doesn't place too much credibility in any non-printed advertising claims.

But for whatever reason Senate Small Business Committee found FTC was not getting the evidence. The National Federation of Independent Business was asked to gather data.

On the basis of this data Sen. Edward Tivy, committee chairman, called on FTC for action now. In announcing FTC is proceeding on matter, Chairman Edward Howrey stated FTC is being forced to use compulsory processes against several big corporations to get more facts.

The facts about couponing are many. For example, an independent regional soap maker or flour miller, may be doing a fine job in some metropolitan market to distress of big national operators who even with their huge national campaigns cannot dislodge independent competition.

So these corporations give away their merchandise by mailing coupons to all householders, offering a cutprice with the coupon. These coupons are carried at a loss to the U. S. Post Office to every home in area selected.

No independent regional manufacturer can stand this pressure, because unlike the big firm seeking to drive him out, he doesn't have customers all over nation who are paying for giveaways in a special local market. In fact, these investigations may establish that people in non-metropolitan areas are paying an excessive price for these national products to build big corporation war chests needed to knock off independent regional competitors one by one, city by city.

In addition, couponing practice has reached a point where by several large corporations will get together to include coupons for their respective products in one mailing.

Some are enclosing in their packages a coupon good for cut price purchase of an item put out by another packing giant. Thus there appears to be at high corporation level a club which might be called LJWOIIC Club, which spelled out means "Let's Jointly Wreck Our Joint Independent Competition."

Start of FTC action against big interests is no guarantee to early successful conclusion.

But on this issue both Senate and House Small Business Committee as well as independent businessmen will be looking over FTC's shoulder because survival of independent regional manufacturing is at stake.

Efficient — Experienced

HERE ARE TWO BIG REASONS WHY WE NEED SENATOR PRESCOTT BACK IN LANSING!

The Taxpayers of Michigan can thank Senator Prescott for a balanced budget. Through his efforts the legislature passed a resolution rejecting the Governor's budget as illegal following an attorney general's opinion that the budget as submitted to the legislature was not a legal one. We want and need more of this type of legislator.

Senator Prescott, a rural legislator, believes in the right of the people to assess themselves and not be forced by legislation to accept the state equalized assessment. Local government should survive. He voted that way.

CATTLEMEN'S LANDMARK IS 75 YEARS OLD

In a ceremony commemorating the 75th Anniversary of the Old Stone Gate at the Chicago stock yards, William Wood Prince, President of the Union Stock Yard and Transit Company, observes a herd of cattle being driven through the gate. The anniversary of this Chicago landmark, familiar to farmers and cattlemen everywhere, was observed by driving a herd of cattle through the gate—just as was done in the early days of the Chicago stock yards. The animals arrived by rail 75 years ago, and were driven out of the yards through the old stone gate to the nearby packing plants. Except for a different roof, the structure remains today just as it was in 1879.

Now Jet Fighter May Revolutionize Art of Flying

BURBANK, Calif.—The revolutionary new U. S. Navy fighter plane, the XFV-1, may alter the very form of flight. Pictures of the plane and facts on its unusual landing ability were announced for the first time last March.

Designed to fly straight up from a standing start on its tail, then level off into high-speed conventional flight, the fighter is still undergoing tests at Edwards Air Force Base, California.

In the first public announcement, Lockheed Aircraft Corporation said the experimental fighter is powered to rise vertically, much like a helicopter, streak away at speeds approximating 500 m.p.h., and then land on a dime by backing straight down, onto a plot of ground about the size of a tennis court, or even onto the deck of a seagoing ship. Experts say such planes have not been produced in the past because sufficiently powerful motors were not available. The Lockheed plane will have an Allison turbo-prop engine which features two side-by-side jet turbines harnessed to contra-rotating propellers.

In appearance, the XFV-1 resembles a four-and-a-half footed, straight wings. It has an unusual tail composed of four fins located equidistant from each other in the pattern of an X. When parked ready for vertical takeoff, its standard ground position, the craft rests on its tail—hooking much like a fast torpedo standing upright.

With this plane, experts say, all Navy ships could be able to carry their own aerial protection. A convoy could put aloft an umbrella of fighters in a matter of minutes.

Hoax of the Decade Is Piltdown Man

CHICAGO—The Most Discredited Man of the Decade has been nominated by editors of the 1954 Yearbook of the American Peoples Encyclopedia.

But, he'll never know about it, for he's the Piltdown Man, and he has been dead for 500 centuries. Many anthropologists who have studied the Piltdown Man, whose fossilized remains were unearthed near Sussex, England, in 1912, established his age at 600,000 years. But it turns out that he is 500,000 years younger than they thought.

The hoax was first discovered last year when representatives of the British Natural History Museum used fluorine tests to demonstrate that the Piltdown Man was a fraud of the first water. Tests prove the skull bones are only about 60,000 years old, the jawbone, modern. Study of the lower jaw and teeth shows that they had been ground to simulate human, or human like teeth.

To add insult to injury, the lower jaw is probably that of a chimpanzee, age 10.

Fire Losses in 1954 Ahead of Past Year

NEW YORK—Fire losses in the United States for 1954 will apparently continue the trend of recent years—an increase over the previous year.

This becomes apparent because of increases in January and February over the same months of 1953. The National Board of Fire Underwriters announced recently that fire losses for January, 1954 were $86,492,000, as compared with $74,155,000 for the same month a year ago. The February increase was more indicative: February, 1953—$72,778,000; February, 1954—$79,928,000.

The total figures for the first two months of the present year represent an increase of 10.7 over the same months in 1953. Total fire losses for 1953 were $303,400,000, an increase over the 1952 total of $284,953,000.

High Price?—Singer Bathes in Coffee

NEW ORLEANS—High coffee prices apparently didn't alarm singer Abba Lane, who performed here recently.

Miss Lane took a bath in a tub full of Louisiana coffee—about $50 worth at prevailing prices. She says it works wonders for her complexion and that she takes a bath every week in 10 gallons, with chicory. At room-service rates of 25 cents a cup, that's 50 bucks a week for her coffee bath.

Could this possibly be the reason for the coffee "shortage"?

Not Her Fault

MILWAUKEE—A woman drove into a gasoline station. The attendant filled the tank and in replacing the hose, left it looped over the rear bumper of the car. The woman drove away, pulling down the gasoline pump.

Gasoline gushed out, the metal pump scraping across the concrete ignited gasoline, and a $300 fire resulted.

These women drivers!

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our husband and father, Percy D. Harnett, who passed away one year ago today, July 31, 1953. He bade no one a last farewell. He said Goodbye to none. His loving heart had ceased to beat. Before we knew it he was gone. Each day we sadly miss him. Deep in our hearts we feel our loss. Lonely is our home without him. Help us O Lord to bear our loss. Sadly missed by his wife and family.

Local Man Donates New Invalid Walker

The Red Cross loan closet now boasts of a new addition to the many articles they have to loan to residents of Crawford County. It is in the nature of an invalid walker. The walker was designed by Robert Meaker and A. J. Trueby, Jr., helped to make it. Made of tubular steel it rolls on rubber-tired wheels.

It takes the place of crutches and is much easier on the patient than crutches.

Mr. Meaker saw the need for such a device when his mother-in-law, Mrs. Vada Kimbler broke her hip last year. Since it was successful for her and she no longer has use for it, Mr. Meaker has given it to the Red Cross Loan Closet.

OUTBOARD TROUBLE AGAIN

Nary a day goes by but what this writer receives at least one letter lamenting the disturbing qualities of outboard motors. Invariably the writer will wind up with the old saw "there oughta be a law."

Few people seem to know that the State of Michigan has the situation pretty well in hand as far as making laws to help the matter. There are two relevant statutes from which we'll quote in part: "Any person who shall operate any motorboat, launch or other watercraft the motive power of which is an internal combustion engine . . . on the inland waters of this state or the connecting waters of the Great Lakes, carelessly or heedlessly in willful or wanton disregard of the rights or safety of others . . . shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

2nd Law Describes Speed The other statute on the Michigan books is a little more explicit: "No such motorboat shall be operated on any of said waters in a reckless manner or at an excessive rate of speed so as to endanger the life or property of any person in or on said waters . . . and no person shall operate such motorboat in said waters at a rate of speed greater than will permit him to bring it to a stop within the assured clear distance ahead."

Many lake property holders and cottagers apparently feel that their lake should be patrolled by a conservation officer at all times to take care of violators. This is obviously impossible, with better than 11,000 lakes in Michigan!

Steps to Take If you feel that you have a logical complaint against the operator of a speedboat here's what to do: Get in touch with local police, state police or your conservation officer giving time, place and name (if possible) of violator. You will probably have to sign a complaint against the party—and it's a good idea to have witnesses. The manufacturers of outboard motors are just as anxious as you are to curb reckless use of this device, without which many a fisherman would be sorely, and I do mean "sorely," handicapped!

So don't hesitate to help keep outboard "hotrodders" under control. Use the laws of your State, file a complaint, and keep our inland waters safe for everyone!

Dressing Room Serves Dual Purpose

Adjoining both the entry hall and a bedroom in a modern ranch-style home, this arrangement provides a convenient powder room for guests as well as a handy bath-dressing room for members of the household. A panel of translucent glass block extending along the wall above the dressing table mirror and into the bathroom assures plenty of daylight for both rooms without loss of desirable privacy from outside view. A small window in the bathroom provides natural light.
